STRIKE THREAT STIRS OFFICIALS

Soft Coal Chiefs Pledge Aid to Anthracite Miners.

NEW PHASE OF THE SITUATION

Nothing Further Will Be Done by the Government to Bring the Anthracite Miners and Operators Together Again—President Coolidge Ready to Act When the Showdown Comes, Day's Developments.

Washington, Aug. 24.—Apprehension as to a sympathetic walkout in the soft coal fields if the anthracite miners go out Sept. 1 added serious complications to the problem confronting President Coolidge.

But the plan to flood the hard coal region with bituminous substitutes in the event of an anthracite suspension crashes to the ground if there is a stoppage of production by the soft coal men, as nonunion men could not meet more than half of the normal bituminous demands. With the reserve stocks on hand, the pinch would begin to be felt before Christmas.

Immediately upon receipt of word from Atlantic City that bituminous union chiefs had pledged their aid to the hard coal miners, Chairman John Hays Hammond of the United States coal commission went to the white house. President Coolidge's view of the bituminous strike threat was indicated by Chairman Hammond when he came out. He said: "A strike of the miners in the soft coal fields would be an absolute breach of contract. They are under solemn obligation to remain at work through to next March 31."

Asked if this new phase of the situation would result in any further effort being made to settle the difficulties between the miners and operators, Mr. Hammond declared: "There is nothing else that we can do for the present. We brought them together once. They had their opportunity to come out of the rain. If they want to stay out and get wet that's their business."

There is every indication that President Coolidge has determined to proceed with the utmost precaution. Matthew C. Brush, president of the American International Corporation of New York, a close friend of the president for twenty years, said after a conference with the executive: "No dramatic action should be expected from President Coolidge at this time. He is going to give both sides full opportunity to settle their differences and avert a strike. But when the showdown comes the president will be found prepared and ready to act."

Federal Fuel Distributor Wadleigh announced he had received four replies to his call for a conference in New York next Tuesday to formulate plans for using substitutes in the event of a hard coal strike. The governors of Massachusetts, Connecticut and New Jersey and the commissioners of the District of Columbia notified him they would send representatives.

KEARNS ON THE FIGHT

Expects Dempsey to Put Away Firpo in the First Round.

New York, Aug. 24.—Manager Jack Kearns was down to town from White Sulphur Springs, where Champion Jack Dempsey is preparing for Luis Firpo, and signed the articles that will be filed with the boxing commission for approval of the scrap.

"I'm going to bet good dough that Jack puts Firpo away in the first round," Kearns said by way of giving his view of the outcome. "Of course, it may not seem likely Dempsey can cop as quick as that, but Firpo certainly will take the count if the champion cracks him on the button. Jack and I realize Firpo is the strongest man the champion has met yet," Kearns acknowledged, "and we figure the champion must win early or be in for lots of trouble."

Lad Dies of Burns.

New Philadelphia, O., Aug. 24.—James, 7-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. William E. Demuth, died from burns received when oil which he had drained in a can from an automobile in his father's garage and lighted, ignited his clothing when he struck the can with a golf stick at play.

UNABLE TO STAND DEFICIT

Berlin to Be Without Streetcars for at Least Two Weeks.

Berlin, Aug. 24.—The German capital will probably be without streetcars for at least two weeks in September. The Berlin municipality, which owns the lines, is unable to stand the deficit of 60,000,000 marks daily and has given notice to its employees that the lines will be closed down Sept. 7. Efforts will be made to find a method for resuming the service later. Meanwhile the service is being sharply curtailed.

Herr Hilferding informed the budget committee of the reichstag that the state owned railroads face a deficit of 450,000,000,000 marks. In his pessimistic remarks to the committee, Herr Hilferding declared: "If this government goes bankrupt, Germany will cease to exist."

WILL HAVE TALK WITH POINCARE

British Premier to Visit France at an Early Date.

NEW ALLIED PARLEY LIKELY

French Premier's Charge That British Proposals For Settlement With Germany Represent No Financial Sacrifice Rouses the English—Result of French Reply to Curzon's Note.

London, Aug. 24.—The only result of Premier Poincare's reply to Lord Curzon's note has been to make the outlook for an amicable adjustment of the grave differences between Britain and France and Belgium gloomier than ever.

This country is stirred by Poincare's charge that the British proposals for a settlement with Germany represent no financial sacrifice. Premier Baldwin, in hearty accord with the sentiment of the people, is determined when he answers the French premier to prove to the whole world that Britain has already relinquished a sum almost equivalent to the amount required by France to rebuild her devastated areas; that she still insists that the reparations and debts due her must be paid concurrently with payments to France and Belgium in "A" and "B" bonds.

Replying to Poincare's accusation that Britain has not sacrificed anything one of the highest officials of the British government said: "The truth is that the British offer implies a British sacrifice double that of France. Under the 1921 schedule of payments and after allowing for the repayment of interallied debts and the allied debts to America, Britain would have obtained a balance of 2,700,000,000 pounds sterling, and France 2,555,000,000 pounds. Britain offers to scale her balance to 710,000,000 pounds and France to only 1,300,000,000 pounds."

Premier Baldwin spent the day studying the French reply and is convinced that in view of Poincare's inflexible demand for the last mark from Germany for France and his offer to pay Britain and the United States in the valueless German "C" bonds, that further notes, beyond one vindictive Britain of France's charges of selfishness, are useless.

It is possible that Premier Baldwin will accept Premier Poincare's invitation for a heart-to-heart talk when he goes to France to take the cure at Aix-les-Bains. If he goes he will call in Lord Curzon, and will demand that if a new allied conference is called, Japan must be admitted.

CHICAGO SCHOLAR TRANSLATES BIBLE

Uses Simplest and Most Vigorous Modern English.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—A Bible, translated into the colloquial tongue of the "average American," soon will be off the press.

The work has just been completed by Dr. Edgar J. Goodspeed, chairman of the New Testament department of the University of Chicago. British forms of expression, such as "husbandman" for "farmer," have been eliminated in the translation made from the original Greek.

Grammatical researches and papyrus discoveries of the past 25 years, Dr. Goodspeed said, have fully established that the New Testament was written in the common, every-day language of the times of the apostles.

"I have taken advantage of these advances," said Dr. Goodspeed, "and endeavored to produce a translation of the New Testament which will have a little more of the ease, clearness and force than I have found in the current versions. I have undertaken to determine what each writer of the New Testament meant to say, and then I have tried to express this in the simplest and most vigorous modern English. In other words, in English of the same kind as the Greek of the original. I have tried to eliminate British forms of expression, like 'steward' and 'husbandman,' and to use only words intelligible to the American ear."

DOINGS IN OHIO

Wanted at Dayton.

Cincinnati, Aug. 24.—Fred C. Fuller of Columbus, who is sought in connection with the alcohol case involving Cecil H. Kearns and others at Dayton, is under arrest at Wheeling, W. Va., where another indictment is pending against him, according to information received at the United States district attorney's office here. It is probable that the Wheeling case will be disposed of before Fuller is returned to Dayton to answer the Ohio charge, it was said.

To Meet Klan's Threat.

Steuensville, O., Aug. 24.—The Ku Klux Klan in a meeting held at Brilliant recently decided to "run Jack Johnson into the river" if he comes to Mingo to box in the main bout of the Mingo Athletic club on Labor day. Mingo is but a short distance from Steuensville. Authorities at Mingo, since learning of the Klan's threat to "run Johnson into the river," have quietly been making preparations to protect the negro on his arrival in Mingo.

Woman Slain.

Cleveland, Aug. 24.—The birth of a grandchild two days ago is attributed by police as a cause leading to the killing of Mrs. Phyllis Franchitti, 53, whose death ended 29 years of married life. Charles Franchitti, 60, husband of the woman, is in jail formally charged with murder. The man is said to have become enraged when Mrs. Franchitti insisted on remaining with her daughter.

Negro Killed by Patrolmen.

Columbus, Aug. 24.—Allen West, 59, colored, was shot and instantly killed by Patrolmen Charles Walcutt and Jess Ziegler, after West had fired two shots into Officer Walcutt's body in a pistol duel. The negro, who is said to have been demented, raised a disturbance at a boarding house and the policemen were called. Walcutt was shot in the left arm and leg.

Trolley Kills Man and Jumps Track.

Lima, O., Aug. 24.—Jerry Campbell, 68, stone quarry operator, was killed when his auto was struck by an interurban car near this city. The interurban left the rails following the crash and plowed into a cornfield. Willard Williams, conductor, was injured seriously and 35 passengers shaken up and bruised.

Salesman Ends Life.

Cincinnati, Aug. 24.—Despondent owing to ill health, Bernard F. Higgins, 49, traveling salesman, ended his life by cutting his throat in his home here. Higgins stood in front of a mirror and used a razor, cutting the jugular vein.

Bread Prices Drop.

Martins Ferry, O., Aug. 24.—The drop in the price of wheat is having its effect on local bread prices. One bakery has cut the price of bread to 10 cents from 12 cents for a 24-ounce loaf.

Dies From Scalds.

Akron, O., Aug. 24.—Samuel Higgenbotham, 30, fireman on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, died from scalds received when a collision of switch engines burst a steam pipe.

A small truck carrying William Capriotti, 40; Mrs. Camela Capriotti and her four children, with four others, was run down and demolished by a New York Central train near Niagara Falls, N. Y. Nine of the party, including the mother and four children, were instantly killed.

JOHNSON OPENS FIRE ON FOES

Attacks Those Who Are in the Fight Against Him.

SENATOR ISSUES STATEMENT

Charges That Excerpts From a Letter He Had Mailed a Friend Were "Surreptitiously Obtained From the Files and Private Office of Chairman of California Republican Central Committee."

Washington, Aug. 24.—Senator Hiram Johnson opened fire on his political enemies in California, who have organized a fight to keep him from getting the endorsement of his state for the Republican presidential nomination in 1924.

A statement issued by the senator denounces those who are in the fight against him as an "opposition without limitations of honor or decency."

This language was prompted by the publication in certain newspapers of excerpts from a confidential letter written by the senator while in Europe last May to Charles K. McClatchy of Sacramento, in which the political situation in California was discussed. The senator declared the letter had been obtained by certain of his enemies "in a manner which could not be condoned." The statements contained in the letter itself, the senator asserted, are unimportant and constitute nothing to which neither he nor anyone else might make objection.

Senator Johnson's statement is an echo of the 1920 fight made against him in California by the Hoover faction, which has begun a campaign in California for an "uninstructed" delegation. Johnson's statement serves notice that the fight is on and that a progressive delegation will be selected when the time comes.

Senator Johnson states that a political opponent in California "surreptitiously obtained letters from the files and private office of Chairman Boynton of the Republican state central committee, and among these found the letter of McClatchy to Boynton with the excerpts from my letter."

The senator adds: "There are some things that must not be done even in politics and that decent men and women can not condone. One of these is burglarizing an opponent's rooms or stealing his private property or private correspondence, or receiving things thus appropriated. This is exactly what was done in this particular instance."

In his letter to McClatchy Senator Johnson discussed the opposition to him in his own state, and expressed the opinion that President Harding would win a renomination, and that the "old crew" was in the saddle in California and might make his chances difficult.

PLAYERS TO FILE SUIT

Deny They Had Been Approached by Gamblers in Cincinnati.

New York, Aug. 24.—President John Heydler of the National league exploded rumors of another major league baseball scandal growing out of charges by a Chicago sports weekly that Outfielder Pat Duncan and Infielder Sam Bohne of the Reds had been approached by gamblers in the last series between the Reds and Giants in Cincinnati. The players, under oath before a notary public, in the presence of President Heydler, denied any such occurrence. The investigation was held in President Heydler's office, to which the players were called. President Heydler stated he had advised both players to bring suit for libel for defamation of character and that they intended to file suit immediately.

In going to the law courts with a suit for slander President Heydler said the matter would be sifted to the bottom "to get at the root of this accusation and determine what motive prompted the originators of it." Bohne and Duncan were declared by him to be completely innocent of any wrongdoing.

Record Mail Plane Flight.

New York, Aug. 24.—The postal air service achieved a success yesterday that exceeded its best hopes when mail from San Francisco landed at Mineola after a flight of 27 hours and 55 minutes. This flight was five minutes shorter than the 28-hour schedule upon which the postoffice hopes to operate and 2 hours and 30 minutes better than the schedule of 30 hours and 15 minutes set for this particular flight.

FROM A SICKBED

Lewis Directing Preparations For the Strike of Anthracite Miners.

Atlantic City, N. Y., Aug. 24.—John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, is directing preparations for the strike of 158,000 men in the anthracite coal fields from a sick bed.

All hope of averting the suspension of mining in the hard coal fields of Pennsylvania, now scheduled for Sept. 1, went glimmering with the semi-official announcement of the anthracite operators that they were preparing to break camp at the Traymore hotel. Lewis and the other members of the miners' section of the joint scale subcommittee will probably remain here for several days. The miners' chieftain was ordered to bed as a result of his inability to conquer a cold which he contracted in Washington on the day of the funeral services for the late President Harding. He continued, however, in active direction of the strike preparations.

Lewis denied the report that there would be a sympathetic strike in the soft coal fields.

Found Dead in Machine.

Circleville, O., Aug. 24.—Cary Short, 53, was found dead in his automobile five miles south of Circleville. He operated a real estate office here. It is believed that he was seized with an attack of heart trouble while driving as his automobile left the road and hit a tree.

Body Exhumed.

Washington, C. H., O., Aug. 24.—Five physicians, representing the state industrial commission and the board of health, exhumed the body of B. A. Carson before paying industrial insurance claims. Their findings were that Carson's death was due to enlarged heart and diseased liver. The death certificate had indicated death was due to cancer of the liver, aggravated by gasoline fumes, Carson having had charge of a filling station.

Left Composer Pondering.
The orchestra was practicing the composer's very long and tedious piece when he arrived.
"What's this?" he demanded from the doorway. "I can hear only the violins, not the wind instruments."
"It's too hard a job for the wind instruments," replied the orchestra leader. "They can't blow and yawn at the same time!"

Where Words Came From.
"Blivouac," like "plunder," is a word that arose in the Thirty Years' war, although it did not come into English until the beginning of the Eighteenth century. "Refugee" came into the language with the Huguenot refugees; "excise" is apparently a Dutch word and, although borrowed earlier, came into general use when this system of taxation was borrowed from Holland in 1643.—L. R. Smith's "The English Language."

SOURCE OF FAMILIAR SAYINGS

"Kicking the Bucket," for instance, Can Be Traced to Days of California Gold Rush.

The expression, "a pig in a poke," originated in Northampton market, when some wags put a cat in a bag or poke and sold it as a pig to a countryman. When the buyer opened the bag, out jumped the cat. This also gave rise to the expression, "letting the cat out of the bag."

"Kicking the bucket" is a phrase that owes its conception to the days of the great gold rush to California and Australia in 1849-51, says London Tit-Bits. Many unfortunate seekers after gold, losing their all in an unavailing effort to find the precious "dust," committed suicide. The suicide tied a rope to a beam in his hut. Then, standing on an upturned bucket, he would adjust the other end of the rope round his neck. When all was ready he simply kicked the bucket from under his feet.

"Worth a Jew's eye," probably came from the fact that King John extorted large sums of money from Jews under threats of mutilation. All the teeth of one Jew in Bristol were extracted to satisfy the king's rapacity.

From a corruption of the Anglo-Saxon we get the phrase, "as mad as a hatter." It has nothing to do with a "hatter," really. The word "mad" in Anglo-Saxon meant furious, angry, or even venomous, and "atter" meant an "adder or viper." Thus the whole expression really means "as venomous as an adder."

Wild Canaries Not Yellow.

Canaries on their native islands are found in great flocks—striped greenish birds, by no means resembling in color our cage canaries. The yellow canary is a result of selective breeding, and the same may be said, of course, of other cage varieties, such as the hump-backed Belgian canary and the "lizard" canary of curious feather-pattern.

SMALL TOWN HUMOR AND PHILOSOPHY

By BUCK CAMPBELL

Many going to work don't do it after they get there.

The trouble with being lazy is it requires so much time.

A homely person may be able to redeem his face by his conduct.

How are you going to heap coals of fire effectively on the head of a fellow with an asbestos topknot?

When a man slips on a banana peeling he is fortunate if he breaks nothing more than the Ten Commandments.

None of us believes in war, but did you ever hear any one commend a coward? The animal not versed in the arts of self defense and the practice of self preservation will soon become extinct.

Aniline in a Pigment.

To detect the presence of aniline in a pigment a little of the color is laid upon a piece of letter paper, and a drop of spirit poured upon it. If the pigment contains an aniline dye, the paper will be colored right through by it, while a pure pigment will not alter the shade of the paper and will under no circumstances penetrate it.—Popular Science Monthly.

HOOSIER
—the Kitchen Cabinet that saves miles of steps

—the Only Kitchen Convenience that Adjusts Your Work-Table to Suit Your Height

Gymnasium instructors have a little trick of asking new members of their classes to hold their hands above their heads and open and close their fingers. After a minute or two the student usually suffers an acute pain in the muscles. Yet opening and closing the fingers is a simple, natural operation. It's the unnatural position in which the arms are held which wears one out.

Unless your work-table is adjusted to the proper height to suit your individual build, you stand in an unnatural position which puts a muscle strain on arms and back for such movements as rolling dough and beating eggs.

That is why so many women wear themselves out at their kitchen work. It is also why women who own the new HOOSIER are freed from such muscle-strains. For the new HOOSIER gives you a work-table adjusted to your comfort.

An initial payment as low as $1.00 will put a HOOSIER in your home.

NIAGARA FALLS NOT HIGHEST

Wonderful Scenic Masterpiece Is Eclipsed by Some of the World's Other Great Waterways.

Niagara falls are generally looked upon as the most wonderful falls in the world, and the popular impression is that they are also the highest in the world.

But as a matter of fact, the Gersoppa falls in the Western Ghats of South India are, speaking roughly, three times the height of Niagara falls, and surpass also the famous Sutherland falls in New Zealand, the great falls of Kaitum in British Guinea and the famous Victoria falls on the Zambesi river. They are on the Sharavati river in the North Kanava district of Mysore, and occur at a point about twenty miles from the river's mouth, where it plunges into a narrow gorge on its way to the Indian ocean.

The cliff over which the Gersoppa or Jog falls leap is 830 feet high. When there is only a moderate amount of water in the river it is broken into four distinct falls, and the largest, called the Rajah, has an unbroken drop of over 500 feet before it touches a rock. Straight from an overhanging ledge it leaps into the chasm in what may be called a gigantic spout, so far from the precipice behind it that the sun shines in between and the shadow of the water may be seen on the rock at some distance to the side of the fall. The pool beneath it is 132 feet deep.

Wife Didn't See This.

Employees of the library division of the city hall gave the most recently married member of the official family a rousing sendoff when he and his bride left on a motor honeymoon tour through the East. The couple promised to write from down East, but it was four or five days before friends received a post card.

After reciting a few of the events of the trip the message concluded: "We are having as good a time as may be expected under the circumstances."—Columbus Dispatch.

Once Wonderful Temple.

The Temple of Karnak is a stupendous ruin situated in the ancient city of Thebes, Egypt, on the eastern bank of the Nile. It covers an area of nine acres, and consists of temples, courts, obelisks and avenues of sphinxes. Karnak was built in part by Osirtasen I of the twelfth dynasty, and was greatly added to by its monarchs of the eighteenth dynasty. The grand hypostyle hall of the temple contains 12 massive columns 62 feet high and 12 feet in diameter, together with 122 smaller columns and two obelisks. The walls are adorned with sculptures depicting the victories of Seti I and Ramesses II. These walls are said to have been originally 80 feet high and 25 feet thick at the base.

A Judge's Busy Day.

Lord Shaw of Dunfermline tells an amusing story of an experience in the old days when the Scottish bench in Edinburgh were accustomed to dine at four o'clock in the afternoon, then went on till late or early, according to the cases before it. At two o'clock one afternoon a client called on a distinguished lawyer, and was told by the serving maid that he was at dinner.

"At dinner at two o'clock in the afternoon!" exclaimed the visitor, incredulously.

"Yes," replied the maid, "but it's yesterday's dinner he's eating the now."—From the Argonaut.

Wanted the Situation.

A weary-looking fellow who had opened all the doors looking for work happened to see a huge police advertisement headed:

"Murderer Wanted."
"Well," he said, scratching his head, "it's better'n nothing, anyhow. I'm going in and ask for the job."

Good Wishes.

Mr. Rockwell had just become the proud father of bouncing twin babies, when he encountered one of his wife's women friends.

"Congratulations!" she said. "I hear your wife gave birth to twins."

"Thank you!" he answered, excitedly. "The same to you and many of them!"

QUEBEC SPRUCE HELD BEST

Peculiar Quality of Wood Considered to Give it Superiority for Certain Sporting Purposes.

Oxford may use American Rhodes scholars to win the annual boat race, but Quebec spruce is used for her oars. Once British Columbia spruce was tried, but though the Dark Blues won, the experiment was never repeated, owing to three or four of the oars having to be replaced at the last moment. Formerly pitch pine was used. Willows are used for cricket bats, but ash is the sportsman's tree. Without it lawn tennis would be impossible. Anyway, although various substitutes have been tried, including steel, cane, aluminum, and hickory, nothing has been found to approach, far less to equal, the best British ash, for racket frames. Ash is also unbeatable for billiard cues, though they are spliced with heavier woods, such as mahogany; also for hockey sticks, baseball clubs, jumping poles, cricket stumps, and croquet mallet shafts. Cane is also put to a variety of uses. It is used for fishing rods, polo sticks, the splicing of all kinds of bats and handles, cricket pads, and football and hockey shin guards. Greenheart is favored for fishing rods; and wooden golf club shafts are generally made of hickory, greenheart, and occasionally lance wood, orange wood, and sometimes ash being used for "irons." Heads are generally made of beech, but pear tree and apple tree are also used. Bowling enthusiasts have their "woods" made of lignum vitae or boxwood. Cork, like cane, is used for the splicing of handles, also the interior of cricket balls. Then where would we be without the rubber tree? There would be no balls, or, at least, no suitable balls, for football, lawn tennis, netball, golf, water polo, cricket on the sands, for which a solid rubber ball is incomparably the best.

A favorable trade balance of $26,000,000 is shown by the official figures on the country's exports and imports for July issued by the department of commerce.

THRIFT and EDUCATION

We think that "Thrift" should be as much the part of the American child's education as arithmetic, geography and spelling.

Doesn't it sound rather inconsistent to teach all the fine points about MAKING MONEY without saying a word about how to TAKE CARE OF IT after it is made.

A good way to teach thrift, is for each and every parent to see that his child has a Savings Account in this solid institution.

Such a step will have a beneficial influence on the child's future character.

Rivals the "Human Fly."

Of all American animals, bighorn, the mountain sheep, is one of the most remarkable. Not only is he equally remarkable in his ability to live, and live well, in an environment where it would seem that no animal of such size could possibly sustain life. There, on the roof of the world, he not only sustains life, but winter or summer, appears to be fat and in the best of condition, the People's Home Magazine says.

OTTERBEIN HOME

Aged Men, Women and Children Cared for by United Brethren Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles McFadden and daughter, Olive, Miss Minnie Callahan, Mrs. Ralph Long, Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Klingensmith, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Kirkpatrick and son, Charles, and daughter, Mary Ellen, have returned from a motor trip thru Columbus, Springfield, Dayton and Lebanon. Among the places of interest they visited were the National Cash Register works, the United Brethren publishing home and the Otterbein Home for children and the aged. Especially were they charmed with the latter and with the genial wife of the superintendent, Mrs. King, who extended them a most cordial welcome. This is a farm of 4,005 acres of the finest land, the old Shaker settlement, which the U. B. church purchased a few years ago and has converted into this home. The buildings there are well preserved and beautiful. They are being fitted up to accommodate the many children of U. B. families who are orphaned. There are 175 there now and a large number on the waiting list; also 75 aged men and women have their homes there. It is indeed an institution of which any church may well be proud.

Caught On to Sailors' Trick.

If a man's hat blew overboard while leaving port many British skippers would turn back and delay sailing until the next day. It was an omen that one of the crew would be lost over the side during the trip. This sign, however, became discredited, as wily deckhands, desirous of another day ashore with their wives and families, contracted the habit of going aloft and assisting the wind to foretell disaster.

DRY MEXICO

President Obregon Says That Country
Will Adopt Prohibition.

President Obregon, of Mexico, shares the belief of Bishop Wilbur P. Thirkield, of the Methodist Episcopal church, that within a few years the country below the Rio Grande will adopt prohibition.

In an address recently before the conference on International Relations from a Christian viewpoint, the bishop quoted a letter from President Obregon to him, which said:

"I believe frankly that your prestige as a prophet is not being compromised too much when you state that our tendency is toward prohibition and that at an early date Mexico will enter into that estate."

The bishop declared that the government as represented by President Obregon and Secretaries de la Huerta and Callos stands behind the dry movement firmly. He said that more than one northern state is now largely dry and that the state of Oaxaca, has taxed the saloons practically out of existence.

"The Minister of education placed 1000 text books on temperance in the hands of the teachers in the public schools," he said.

"In all deeds to land under the new agrarian laws are raising of the maguery plant, out of which intoxicating pulque is made, is prohibited. I confidently expect that within the next 10 years Mexico will be dry."

Bishop Thirkield declared that President Obregon's achievement in bringing peace to Mexico, establishing an honest budget and providing for the payment of the public debt places him as one of the greatest modern statesmen and rulers of the republics of the world.

Pointing to Mexico as a fertile field for American investment, he urged that the United States divert the money it now spends to maintain a single fort along the Mexican border to the establishment of friendly relations between the two nations.

Keep in mind the sale of the 50 acre tract of land belonging to the estate of Charles M. Rife, adjoining the north corporation line of Circleville, Monday, August 27, at 2 p. m. at the court house. 23augd3.

OUT OF THE MELTING POT

Heaven and Earth Both Constructed
Out of the Same Elements,
Says Science.

Meteors have always been looked on with interest by the sky watchers. They swoop down on us startlingly from some mysterious hinterland of outer space. We look with something of awe even today and wonder about them. Are they messengers from distant strange world? Do they differ in some essential way from the substance matter of the earth?

The answer is an unromantic "no," says the New York Evening Post.

Chemically, meteorites are often composed of iron with some nickel and smaller amounts of other elements. So far as the chemist can determine, the iron in meteorites is just like the iron in the kitchen range or the garden hoe, and the nickel no different from that in the 5-cent piece in your pocket. It seems to be pretty definite proof that our earth is part and parcel with the rest of the universe and that all the splendid stars are now or will some time be made up of just the kind of chemical elements we find by scratching the surface of this little earth.

There seems to be no doubt that all of the matter of the universe came out of the same vast melting pot. Our sun differs from giant Betelgeuse, at the other end of the heavens, only in size and hotness. The warmth and the water and light on our earth are probably very much like those on thousands of planets swinging in the vast spaces of the Milky Way and, given these same conditions, it is more than likely that life is there also, and intelligence and thinking, and wondering about us as we think and wonder about them.

The Gift of God.

Sleep is the gift of God. We think we lay our heads upon our pillows and compose our bodies in a peaceful posture, and that therefore we naturally and necessarily fall asleep. But it is not so. Sleep is the gift of God, and not a man would close his eyes did not God put his fingers on his eyelids; did not the Almighty send a soft and balmy influence over his frame which lulled his thoughts into quiescence, making him enter into that blissful state of rest which we call sleep.—Charles H. Spurgeon.

Ears in Their Feet.

A peculiarity of deaf cats is that they seem to have a very great sense of feeling in their foot-pads. It is almost an impossibility for a heavy animal to approach a deaf cat from behind without giving it warning, and this may be attributed to the extreme sensitiveness of the cat's feet recording the slightest tremor of the ground.

AT THE COURT HOUSE

Judgment Affirmed.

In the suit of the State against John G. Heffner charged with having property in his possession for the manufacturing of liquor and also of having in his possession intoxicating liquor and which cases were tried before Mayor Renick and in which he was fined $750 on the first count and by the court of common pleas to $250 on the second charge was upheld by the court of common pleas, to which court the case was taken on error. I. F. Snyder represented the plaintiff. Judge Curtin rendered the decision.

ORDINANCE NO. 458.

To change the name of that portion of North Pickaway Street between the East Ringgold Turnpike, now Northridge Road on the South, and Wilson Avenue on the North.

Whereas, the Council of the City of Circleville, Ohio, did on the 18th day of May, 1904 duly pass an ordinance the same being recorded in Ordinance Record of 1895 on pages 87 and 88, providing for the purchase of a strip of land sixty feet in width, running North and South, off the west side of land then owned by Amelia Stout, extending from the East Ringgold Turnpike, now Northridge Road, to the North Corporation line of the City of Circleville, Ohio; and

Whereas, said strip of land was duly purchased, improved and dedicated to the public for the use of a street to be known as "North Pickaway Street."

Now, therefore, be it ordained by the Council of the City of Circleville, Ohio, Section 1. That the name of that portion of "North Pickaway Street" between the East Ringgold Turnpike, now Northridge Road on the South, and Wilson Avenue on the North in said City of Circleville, Ohio, be changed to "Atwater Avenue."

Section 2. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law. Passed by Council this 15th day of August, 1923.

FELIX R. CALDWELL,
President of Council.
Attest:—Fred R. Nicholas, Clerk.
Approved by me this 16th day of August, 1923.

Mayor.

C. H. LINES DEAD.

Charles H. Lines, 69, Ashville, died from complications Thursday. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Josephine Lines; one, son, S. Wesley Lines, Columbus; a brother, Sherman, Chesterville; and a sister, Mrs. James McGarity, Columbus.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Saturday at the residence and at 2:30 o'clock in the Ashville U. B. church. Burial will be in Reber Hill cemetery.

Uses for Corks.

Have you ever tried using corks in cleaning steel knives? When a strong cork, with a substantial base, is dipped in the cleaning preparation and then rubbed briskly over the blade, it will be found to work much more effectively than the more common method of using a small cloth. The saving to the hands is quite worth considering, at the same time.

BUSINESS MAN

Secretary Mellon Against Intervention in European Affairs.

The secretary of the treasury is a business man. He has just returned from an extensive trip abroad. He does not agree with congressional gentlemen and other investigators who would have us intervene in European affairs. Such intervention at this time would not be helpful, he says. On the contrary, he affirms that economic conditions abroad are improving right along and that reparations and other problems will be satisfactorily solved without the assistance of the United States.

Secretary Mellon is not a politician. His judgments are based upon facts and figures. Sentiment and prejudice do not influence his conclusions. Observing a rejuvenescent France, excellent crops, but little unemployment and money plentiful, he deduces substantial hope for the future.

In England unemployment is greatly increased, and while bankers are somewhat apprehensive over the trade outlook, there appears to be nothing that seriously stands in the way of normal progress and adjustments.

The secretary does not believe a communistic revolution in Germany at all probable. In brief, after a careful survey of the entire foreign field, Mr. Mellon concludes that Europe should be left to work out its own destiny. He sees no reason why this may not be done successfully without this nation becoming identified in any way with foreign involvements.

These deductions will not be popular with those who would have the United States underwrite the security of the world; they will not be popular with the dreaming idealists who believe the world now trends upon the millennial period; they will not be kindly received by politicians whose exploitation of the woes of Europe constitute their sole stock to trade; but they should be reassuring to the mass of the American public which is interested in the development and progress of the national interest as a matter of first concern.

It is profitable to the nation to have men like Secretary Mellon and Secretaries Davis make personal investigations abroad. Both returned home with valuable and helpful information and suggestions with reference to European affairs.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

PEOPLE OF AFGHANISTAN ARE GROWING MORE MODERN

Establish New Schools, Adopt Compulsory Education and Install Radio Station.

Citizens of Afghanistan, in their effort to become modern, have established a radio station at Kabul.

This follows the opening of the first telegraphic communication between Afghanistan and India. There is now a telephone line from Kabul to Kandahar, and it is possible to travel by automobile between these cities.

Since the abolition of slavery in January of 1921, great strides have been made in education in Afghanistan. There is a new boys' school, caring for 150 youngsters under twelve years of age, and a school for women, both at Kabul, and several primary schools have been set up in the provinces. Compulsory school attendance has been decreed, though at present scarcely one person in a thousand can read and write. For the first time in the history of the country a press has come into existence, and five periodicals already have been established.

The greatest difficulty before the new government is the finding of men competent to carry out its reforms. The old officials were strenuously opposed to these innovations, and it proved necessary, early in 1922, to depose at a single stroke all the provincial governors. The new officials no longer wear national costumes, but dress in correct European fashion. Their offices are equipped with modern desks and chairs, and government clerks have been forbidden to sit on the floor while performing their duties. Immediately following the evening prayer and the swift sunset, electric street lights are flashed on and military bands march through the city, in full uniform, playing for the popular amusement.

MANY CITIES WOULD GLADLY WELCOME MAYOR LIKE THIS

Here is Illinois' unique mayor, Edward Crabtree of Jacksonville, Ill., who refused to accept any salary for his duties. He has the distinction of being elected three times without giving away as much as a nickel cigar or making a single speech, neither has he ever contributed a dollar towards a party campaign fund. Mayor Crabtree was urged to become mayor and reorganize the administration so that it could be placed on a sound condition financially. Today the city's credit is now on a par with the best in the state. It is believed that he can retain the position of chief executive as long as he cares to do so.

PHENOMENA STARTLE CITY

Flaming Cross and Night Explosions Mystify Fitchburg.

Chief of Police Godley of Fitchburg, Mass., attributed to mischievous boys phenomena that had terrorized citizens for two nights recently. One night, after two explosions resembling big gun fire, a huge cross was burned at the summit of Rollstone Hill, a rocky peak in the center of the city. The next night the two explosions were repeated and then a great rocket was fired from the hilltop. Searches by police in both instances revealed nothing.

A heavy guard was placed at the great rock that forms the highest peak of the hill.

CHINA TO HAVE AIR ROUTES

American Flying Expert Promotes Extensive Enterprise in Shanghai.

The Setah and Great China Airways companies are two newly launched enterprises which have been promoted by James Slevin, an American airplane expert, who plans to establish a network of aerial service linking every important center in China in the course of the year.

Slevin said the first route to be opened will be from Tientsin to Unga with regular flights carrying passengers, mails and express packages.

The project, Slevin says, is being carried out under agreements with the commercial aeronautical department of the Chinese government.

AMUSEMENTS

J. E. Williamson's remarkable undersea picture, which comes direct from a three week consecutive run at the Rialto and Rivoli theaters, New York City, will be presented for the first time at the Metropolitan theater on Friday, as the feature attraction at that house.

Distributed by Film Booking offices "Wonders of the Sea" is a gathering of marvelously beautiful undersea scenes with highly dramatic episodes, such as a battle with a deadly moray and a vicious barracuda, and the capture of a shark on a hook before the eyes of the camera. Romantic sunken ships are the scenes of undersea exploration and a delightful story of an oceanographer, a stowaway boy, an artist and a beautiful girl binds it together into an unusual novelty. The late Alexander Graham Bell, the inventor of the telephone, appears in the picture, making a trip along the bottom of the sea and the new chemical diving device by which it is possible to go about unencumbered with ropes and airlines is also interestingly presented in the new Williamson production.

Beckett's Ambitious Program.

London, Aug. 24.—Joe Beckett, English heavyweight, is very ambitious and confident. "I can almost name the round," Joe is quoted as saying, "in which I'll knock out Georges Carpentier, when we meet Sept. 27 or Oct. 1." And then says Joe: "Then I am going to the Argentine and fight Luis Firpo for a $50,000 purse, and, after that, my life's ambition, a fight with Jack Dempsey."

THE DOG THAT WOULDN'T COME BACK.

He had married a fluffy young thing and as time went on grew to detest her homely little pea poodle dog that snapped and snarled whenever he came near. One day Fido mysteriously disappeared and he promptly and generously offered one hundred dollars for its recovery.

"But I thought," said a friend, "you hated that dog like poison?" "So I did," he replied; "I could not bear it."

"Then why on earth do you offer such a big reward for its return?" "I like to please my wife."

"Well, that may be, but $100 is sure to bring the dog back."

"I think not," he answered, "unless someone saw me bury it in the garden."—From Everybody's Magazine for September.

HIS GLOOM SHARED.

Mr. Millerton, who is a great deal of a hypochondriac and enjoys looking forward "to the end" was in an especially depressed mood one evening when he gave some thought to the question of a second marriage for his wife.

"Harriet, my dear," he said gloomily, "when I am gone from this vale of tears, you must marry again. It is my dearest wish."

"William," observed his wife, with a faint smile, "no one will marry an old woman like me. You ought to have died fifteen years ago for it at."—From Everybody's Magazine for September.

TO GRAND JURY

Thurlow W. Timmons and Thurman A. Betts Released on Bond.

In the preliminary hearing of Thurman A. Betts, charged with assault with intent to commit rape and T. W. Timmons charged with rape, the prisoners plead not guilty Thursday evening in a preliminary hearing before Justice E. C. Friece.

Justice Friece held both men to the grand jury. Betts in the sum of $1000 and Timmons in the sum of $2000. They furnished bond and were released.

The story of the assault, as told by Miss Faler, brought out the fact that the young men had whisky with them on the night of the eventful trip. The hearing produced several dramatic incidents and some very sensational testimony.

Betts was represented by Irvin F. Snyder and Timmons was represented by Barton Walters. The state was represented by Prosecuting Attorney Meeker Terwilliger.

Firpo's Quarters.

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 24.—Horatio Lavelle, millionaire manager for Luis Firpo, heavyweight, who hopes to acquire Jack Dempsey's crown Sept. 14, completed arrangements for the headquarters of his protégé. A large cottage in the heart of fashionable Chelsea was rented, and will be occupied by the fighter's party in a few days. Lavelle said that Firpo now weighs 215 pounds and will fight at 210 or 212.

Frank Comment.

It takes a small boy to take the conceit out of one. Being a little stout and not often well pleased with myself, on one occasion when wearing a new gown I asked my small son if I did not look rather well. He eyed me for a moment, then took the starch out of me by asking, "Are you not just a little wide across the skirt?"

KEEP THE INDIAN AS HE IS.

To all civilized people the Indians have a charm about them a touch of early life on earth, that ought to be preserved. There is no doubt that the redskin of the eastern states is destroyed forever. He is only living in Fenimore Cooper's charming novels. But the Indian of the great southwest has a chance of keeping up a little of the life and the civilization that is natural to him and, in all its simplicity, is fascinating to modern people. That life preserved will be of more worth to mankind than any little bit of modern civilization transplanted into a soil where there is really no growth for it. Staying with a government inspector, I had an opportunity to discuss the problem with an authority on the question. His view affirmed my opinion that it is better to leave the Indians alone and not try to make them Americans. Their hearts and souls are far away from the feelings of white men. You will lose a few Americans, but an interesting part of mankind will be preserved.—From "The Typical American" by Sven V. Knudsen, in the September Scribner's.

Harnesses Sun's Rays.

An experimenter in the Royal College of Science in Toronto claims that he has found a way to harness the sun's heat to industrial tasks of almost any nature. For instance, by his experiments with mirror combinations he has focused reflected rays so as to melt a bar of lead at a temperature below freezing to a depth of one and a half inches in 42 seconds.

HARTMAN THEATER

Monday—Al G. Field minstrels—
State fair week.

The day is a happy one for all Ohio in that it ushers in the new Field production and Ohio's great state fair two events which have come to be synchronous and synonymous in the minds of all state fair visitors. The Field show again inaugurates the new theatrical season at the Hartman, a custom it has enjoyed for many years and always the week of the big fair.

Those who expect to visit the Field entertainment during their stay in Columbus are urged to make reservations at the earliest possible opportunity, as delay may mean disappointment in obtaining seats.

Edward Conard and Joseph E. Hatfield, joint owners and producers of the Al G. Field minstrels, have achieved the greatest success of the 37 splendid years that are to the credit of the organization this year. It is heralded as the very finest and most lavish, as well as ambitious show black face minstrelsy has yet attained. Previous critics are unanimous in acclaiming its unusual merit and Hartman patrons will know what to expect in view of the splendid performances given by this popular American organization in the past.

The company again includes all the old familiar and much loved faces and some new ones as well and the production is a brilliant one in every sense of the word. Manager Conard has outdone all former efforts in staging the show and it is without a doubt the most expensive minstrelsy ever known.

The company includes Jack Richards, Billy Church, Nick Hufford, Roddy Jordan, John Heely, Ed. Jones, Pete Detzel, Boni Mack, Harry Frillman, Ola Ellwood, Leslie Berry, Dolf Kastor, the Doran Brothers, Lloyd Gilbert, Carl Cameron's saxoland five and all the other familiar and popular names of the old program.

Matinee Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday.

The Hotel Stenographer
BY ROE FULKERSON
*** * * * ***
"Kelly, I don't know what's the matter with me,"
said the Hotel
Stenographer. "I seem to be always shooting the ball in the wrong pocket."
"Yes?" asked the House Detective
interestedly.
"Yes is right" answered the girl. If I was a leaping greyhound and had a race on with an anaemic snail the snail would be a favorite in the betting and probably win.
"If I had been Lazarus in my tomb and the Lord had stopped and said for me to come forth I would have come forth! I pulled a bone last night that made me feel as foolish as a guy with a garter dragging at a swell dance."
"I am in my sweeties black books now and I know I am never going to get out. A bunch of us drove to a farm dance last night in a truck filled with straw.
"Standing with my back to a big
French window with a lace curtain over it, I was talking to some people when a hand slipped in thru the window and took mine where it was hanging behind my back. The hand squeezed mine and I squeezed back.
The hand clung to mine and I thought it was fun, so I talked right along to keep up with my petting party with the unknown guy outside.
At last they left and I thought of something which at the time seemed very cute. I parted the two curtains just enough to put my lips thru and somebody kissed me. When I tried to run the guy still hung on to my hand and pulled me thru the window out on the porch before I realized it. I said
'O, is it you?' and it was my sweetie.
Of course I tried to laugh it off, but,
Kelly, I had just as well tried to laugh off a wen or a goitre! That baby is done with me for life!"

LITTLE THINGS

Trifles at Unexpected Moment Count for a Great Deal.

Boys sometimes worry when their teachers or employers make so much ado about things that seem to the boys to be mere trifles; but little things are frequently not trifles, and sometimes at the unexpected moment they really count for a great deal.

Indeed, one day a stranger did take to him—a certain Mr. Sawyer, who owns a large drug store in a considerable city and who at the time was "scouting" for a new clerk. As soon as he entered the store and saw young Carpenter he was greatly pleased with him and thought: "Maybe this is the man I want." So he made a little purchase by way of beginning an acquaintance—a small box of candy, which, having a well defined shape, was as easy to wrap as anything could possibly be. But by the time Carpenter handed the package to the customer Mr. Sawyer had dismissed him as a possibility, and Carpenter never knew that in those few moments he had stood an important examination and had failed.

Mr. Sawyer described the incident to a friend with whom he took dinner that evening. "What I bought," he said, "was one of the easiest parcels to wrap—an oblong box. If I had been buying flaxseed, for example, that would have been much more difficult to wrap neat and tight. But he used about 50 per cent more paper than he needed, which may seem a trifle but in a large business would be a bad leak; and in the next place he didn't wrap the parcel in the right way, which again is a small thing but something and up-and-coming clerk should know. If I had taken the string from that that parcel and tossed the parcel of the floor the box would have flown out of the paper, whereas, if he had wrapped it properly it wouldn't."

According to the wise man, it was the little foxes that spoiled the vines, and in this case the two little foxes of wastefulness and the slovenly performance of a common act spoiled the vine of Carpenter's prospects.—Youth's Companion.

POWERS TO BE NOTIFIED

Draft of Manifesto Recognizing Mexico Has Been Completed.

Washington, Aug. 24.—The draft of the manifesto by which the Obregon government of Mexico will be recognized has been completed at the state department. It will be promulgated and become effective either on Saturday or Monday. The only remaining causes for delay are due to the necessity of officially notifying Great Britain, France, Belgium, Cuba and several other countries of the proposed action. The governments mentioned agreed more than a year ago to act in unison with the United States and have done so throughout the negotiations now successfully concluded.

Big County Fair Planned.

Cleveland, Aug. 24.—A gigantic county fair will be held in Public hall, this city, Oct. 6 to 16. It is to be known as the Cleveland National exhibition and will have a display of agricultural products and implements, live stock, fruits and flowers from every part of America. James F. Fleming, former manager of the Ohio State fair, is in charge of the exhibition.

Turks Ratify Treaty.

Constantinople, Aug. 24.—The Angora assembly ratified the treaty negotiated at Lausanne between the Turks and the allies.

Cincinnati, Aug. 24.—A bandit held up a local cafe and seven patrons, the loot consisting of $75 from a cash register and $34 from the patrons.

IMPORT WASPS TO KILL PESTS

Natural Enemies of Corn Borer Released Near Boston.

SAVE MILLIONS TO FARMERS

Boston.—With the release of 1,000,000 tiny wasps, termed habrobracons, in this vicinity, experts of the bureau of entomology, United States Department of Agriculture, hope they have set in motion an agency that will result in the destruction of the corn borer and the saving of millions of dollars to the farmers. The success of the experiment, entomologists say, will not be determined until observations have extended over a period of years.

Imported from France, in which country and in Italy the habrobracon has proved a relentless enemy of the corn borer, four colonies of the insects were bred at the government laboratories in Arlington. Whether the wasp can survive and flourish in the colder and more uneven climate of New England and the United States in general is a question still to be determined.

$1,000,000 Damage Last Year.

The corn borer itself is an imported species, having come to America in shipments of European broom corn. Its ravages first attracted serious attention in 1917 in eastern Massachusetts. Since that time it has worked steadily westward. Last year the borer caused damage estimated at $1,000,000 in this state alone.

The corn borer, which in appearance resembles a caterpillar, not only attacks corn but inflicts injury upon crops of beets, celery, beans, rhubarb, potatoes, peppers, buckwheat and clover. Altogether investigators have found the borer guilty of damaging 211 varieties of plants.

Harmless to Crops.

The habrobracon is said to injure no crop, confining its attacks to the borer, the gypsy and the brown-tail moths. The wasps are very small, with bodies about the size of the head of a pin. The female wasp attaches itself to the corn borer and lays its eggs on it. These, when they develop, at first paralyze and later kill the borer.

The battle between borer and habrobracon began with the release of colonies of 250,000 habrobracons each in Saugus, Cambridge, Malden and Arlington. Further experiments are being made by government entomologists with a view to finding other insects which may check the spread of the borer.

COMMONS RAPS BATHTUBS

Refuses to Pass Bill Making Placing of Them in New Houses Compulsory.

The wise legislators in the British house of commons recently discussed the need of bathrooms in new dwellings. Capt. Wedgewood Benn (liberal, Leith) urged an amendment to the housing bill—and when a building is converted into a dwelling or flats, it shall contain bathtubs.

"Our grandfathers were washed only twice in their lives; when they were born and when they died," remarked Col. Pretyman Newman (conservative, Finchley).

"A bath is a luxury," said Major Molloy (conservative, Blackpool), whose bravery won him the distinguished service order. "People wash themselves merely to become pleasant neighbors."

Colonel Benn's amendment was lost, 25 to 19.

ANGLER DROWNED BY FISH

Man Falls Overboard at "Bite" and Is Entangled in Line.

"Drowned by a fish," has been written by Detroit authorities opposite the name of Lawrence Wimberly, thirty-seven, who met death in St. Clair river.

Wimberly, accompanied by George B. Horrel, rowed to the middle of the stream, dropped a fishing line overboard and went to sleep. A fish swallowed the bait and began tugging at the line, which Wimberly had tied to his arm. Awakening, Wimberly upset the boat and was thrown into the water. The line became wrapped about his arms so that he could not swim and he drowned while his companion was swimming to shore.

The fish had escaped when Wimberly's body was recovered.

Sues for Omitted Name.

Because his name was omitted from the 1923 telephone directory of Philadelphia, Dr. E. H. Siler has filed suit to compel a reprinting of the book. Omission of his name hurt his business, the doctor declared. It would cost something like $1,000,000 to reprint the books.

Surplus of Victory Medals.

Victory medals apparently have no claimants among America's soldier boys, for the War department finds it has a surplus of 2,119,000. Congress authorized that the medals be issued to every American soldier of the World war. It has taken five years to distribute 1,223,000 of the decorations.

Half Million Bugs Motor to Oregon.

With 800,000 lady bugs in the back seat of his motor-car, County Farm Agent Cate rode into Medford, Ore. The lady bugs will clear orchards of scale and aphids, he declared, saving about $5,000 worth of crops for farmers.

Soft Coal Chiefs Pledge Aid to Anthracite Miners.

NEW PHASE OF THE SITUATION

Nothing Further Will Be Done by the Government to Bring the Anthracite Miners and Operators Together Again—President Coolidge Ready to Act When the Showdown Comes. Day's Developments.

Washington, Aug. 24.—Apprehension as to a sympathetic walkout in the soft coal fields if the anthracite miners go out Sept. 1 added serious complications to the problem confronting President Coolidge.

The reaction to this latest development, however, was a stiffening of the government's attitude and a declaration that nothing further would be done to bring the miners and operators together. Preparations to insure the public a supply of fuel went forward.

But the plan to flood the hard coal region with bituminous substitutes in the event of an anthracite suspension crashes to the ground if there is a stoppage of production by the soft coal men, as nonunion men could not meet more than half of the normal bituminous demands. With the reserve stocks on hand, the pinch would begin to be felt before Christmas.

Immediately upon receipt of word from Atlantic City that bituminous union chiefs had pledged their aid to the hard coal miners, Chairman John Hays Hammond of the United States coal commission went to the white house. President Coolidge's view of the bituminous strike threat was indicated by Chairman Hammond when he came out. He said: "A strike of the miners in the soft coal fields would be an absolute breach of contract. They are under solemn obligation to remain at work through to next March 31."

Asked if this new phase of the situation would result in any further effort being made to settle the difficulties between the miners and operators, Mr. Hammond declared: "There is nothing else that we can do for the present. We brought them together once. They had their opportunity to come out of the rain. If they want to stay out and get wet that's their business."

There is every indication that President Coolidge has determined to proceed with the utmost precaution. Matthew C. Brush, president of the American International Corporation of New York, a close friend of the president for twenty years, said after a conference with the executive: "No dramatic action should be expected from President Coolidge at this time. He is going to give both sides full opportunity to settle their differences and avert a strike. But when the showdown comes the president will be found prepared and ready to act."

Federal Fuel Distributor Wadleigh announced he had received four replies to his call for a conference in New York next Tuesday to formulate plans for using substitutes in the event of a hard coal strike. The governors of Massachusetts, Connecticut and New Jersey and the commissioners of the District of Columbia notified him they would send representatives.

KEARNS ON THE FIGHT

Expects Dempsey to Put Away Firpo in the First Round.

New York, Aug. 24.—Manager Jack Kearns was down to town from White Sulphur Springs, where Champion Jack Dempsey is preparing for Luis Firpo, and signed the articles that will be filed with the boxing commission for approval of the scrap.

"I'm going to bet good dough that Jack puts Firpo away in the first round," Kearns said by way of giving his view of the outcome. "Of course, it may not seem likely Dempsey can cop as quick as that, but Firpo certainly will take the count if the champion cracks him on the button. Jack and I realize Firpo is the strongest man the champion has met yet," Kearns acknowledged, "and we figure the champion must win early or be in for lots of trouble."

Lad Dies of Burns.

New Philadelphia, O., Aug. 24.—James, 7-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. William E. Demuth, died from burns received when oil which he had drained in a can from an automobile in his father's garage and lighted, ignited his clothing when he struck the can with a golf stick at play.

UNABLE TO STAND DEFICIT

Berlin to Be Without Streetcars For at Least Two Weeks.

Berlin, Aug. 24.—The German capital will probably be without streetcars for at least two weeks in September. The Berlin municipality, which owns the lines, is unable to stand the deficit of 60,000,000 marks daily and has given notice to its employees that the lines will be closed down Sept. 7. Efforts will be made to find a method for resuming the service later. Meanwhile the service is being sharply curtailed.

Herr Hilferding informed the budget committee of the reichstag that the state owned railroads face a deficit of 450,000,000 marks. In his pessimistic remarks to the committee, Herr Hilferding declared: "If this government goes bankrupt, Germany will cease to exist."

WILL HAVE TALK WITH POINCARE

British Premier to Visit France at an Early Date.

NEW ALLIED PARLEY LIKELY

French Premier's Charge That British Proposals For Settlement With Germany Represent No Financial Sacrifice Rouses the English—Result of French Reply to Curzon's Note.

London, Aug. 24.—The only result of Premier Poincare's reply to Lord Curzon's note has been to make the outlook for an amicable adjustment of the grave differences between Britain and France and Belgium gloomier than ever.

This country is stirred by Poincare's charge that the British proposals for a settlement with Germany represent no financial sacrifice. Premier Baldwin, in hearty accord with the sentiment of the people, is determined when he answers the French premier to prove to the whole world that Britain has already relinquished a sum almost equivalent to the amount required by France to rebuild her devastated areas; that she still insists that the reparations and debts due her must be paid concurrently with payments to France and Belgium in "A" and "B" bonds.

Replying to Poincare's accusation that Britain has not sacrificed anything one of the highest officials of the British government said: "The truth is that the British offer implies a British sacrifice double that of France. Under the 1921 schedule of payments and after allowing for the repayment of interallied debts and the allied debts to America, Britain would have obtained a balance of 2,700,000,000 pounds sterling, and France 2,555,000,000 pounds. Britain offers to scale her balance to 710,000,000 pounds and France to only 1,300,000,000 pounds."

Premier Baldwin spent the day studying the French reply and is convinced that in view of Poincare's inflexible demand for the last mark from Germany for France and his offer to pay Britain and the United States in the valueless German "C" bonds, that further notes, beyond one vindicating Britain of France's charges of selfishness, are useless.

It is possible that Premier Baldwin will accept Premier Poincare's invitation for a heart-to-heart talk when he goes to France to take the cure at Aix-les-Bains. If he goes he will call in Lord Curzon, and will demand that if a new allied conference is called, Japan must be admitted.

CHICAGO SCHOLAR TRANSLATES BIBLE

Uses Simplest and Most Vigorous Modern English.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—A Bible, translated into the colloquial tongue of the "average American," soon will be off the press.

The work has just been completed by Dr. Edgar J. Goodspeed, chairman of the New Testament department of the University of Chicago. British forms of expression, such as "husbandman" for "farmer," have been eliminated in the translation made from the original Greek.

Grammatical researches and papyrus discoveries of the past 25 years, Dr. Goodspeed said, have fully established that the New Testament was written in the common, every-day language of the times of the apostles.

"I have taken advantage of these advances," said Dr. Goodspeed, "and endeavored to produce a translation of the New Testament which will have a little more of the ease, clearness and force than I have found in the current versions. I have undertaken to determine what each writer of the New Testament meant to say, and then I have tried to express this in the simplest and most vigorous modern English. In other words, in English of the same kind as the Greek of the original. I have tried to eliminate British forms of expression, like 'steward' and 'husbandman,' and to use only words intelligible to the American ear."

THE WEATHER.

Ohio—Saturday: Probably fair; moderate temperatures.

MISS BARBARA WHITNEY

Daughter of Henry Payne Whitney of New York.

Miss Whitney's engagement to Barkley M. Henry of Philadelphia has been announced.

DOINGS IN OHIO

Wanted at Dayton.

Cincinnati, Aug. 24.—Fred C. Fuller of Columbus, who is sought in connection with the alcohol case involving Cecil H. Kearns and others at Dayton, is under arrest at Wheeling, W. Va., where another indictment is pending against him, according to information received at the United States district attorney's office here. It is probable that the Wheeling case will be disposed of before Fuller is returned to Dayton to answer the Ohio charge, it was said.

To Meet Klan's Threat.

Steubenville, O., Aug. 24.—The Ku Klux Klan in a meeting held at Brilliant recently decided to "run Jack Johnson into the river" if he comes to Mingo to box in the main bout of the Mingo Athletic club on Labor day. Mingo is but a short distance from Steubenville. Authorities at Mingo, since learning of the Klan's threat to "run Johnson into the river," have quietly been making preparations to protect the negro on his arrival in Mingo.

Woman Slain.

Cleveland, Aug. 24.—The birth of a grandchild two days ago is attributed by police as a cause leading to the killing of Mrs. Phyllis Frascitti, 53, whose death ended 29 years of married life. Charles Frascitti, 60, husband of the woman, is in jail formally charged with murder. The man is said to have become enraged when Mrs. Frascitti insisted on remaining with her daughter.

Negro Killed by Patrolmen.

Columbus, Aug. 24.—Allen West, 50, colored, was shot and instantly killed by Patrolmen Charles Walcutt and Jess Ziegler, after West had fired two shots into Officer Walcutt's body in a pistol duel. The negro, who is said to have been demented, raised a disturbance at a boarding house and the policemen were called. Walcutt was shot in the left arm and leg.

Trolley Kills Man and Jumps Track.

Lima, O., Aug. 24.—Jerry Campbell, 68, stone quarry operator, was killed when his auto was struck by an interurban car near this city. The interurban left the rails following the crash and plowed into a cornfield. Willard Williams, conductor, was injured seriously and 35 passengers shaken up and bruised.

Salesman Ends Life.

Cincinnati, Aug. 24.—Despondent owing to ill health, Bernard F. Higgins, 49, traveling salesman, ended his life by cutting his throat in his home here. Higgins stood in front of a mirror and used a razor, cutting the jugular vein.

Bread Prices Drop.

Martins Ferry, O., Aug. 24.—The drop in the price of wheat is having its effect on local bread prices. One bakery has cut the price of bread to 10 cents from 12 cents for a 24-ounce loaf.

Dies From Scalds.

Akron, O., Aug. 24.—Samuel Higgenbotham, 30, fireman on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, died from scalds received when a collision of switch engines burst a steam pipe.

A small truck carrying William Capriotti, 40; Mrs. Camela Capriotti and her four children, with four others, was run down and demolished by a New York Central train near Niagara Falls, N. Y. Nine of the party, including the mother and four children, were instantly killed.

JOHNSON OPENS FIRE ON FOES

Attacks Those Who Are in the Fight Against Him.

SENATOR ISSUES STATEMENT

Charges That Excerpts From a Letter He Had Mailed a Friend Were "Surreptitiously Obtained From the Files and Private Office of Chairman of California Republican Central Committee."

Washington, Aug. 24.—Senator Hiram Johnson opened fire on his political enemies in California, who have organized a fight to keep him from getting the endorsement of his state for the Republican presidential nomination in 1924.

A statement issued by the senator denounces those who are in the fight against him as an "opposition without limitations of honor or decency."

This language was prompted by the publication in certain newspapers of excerpts from a confidential letter written by the senator while in Europe last May to Charles K. McClatchy of Sacramento, in which the political situation in California was discussed. The senator declared the letter had been obtained by certain of his enemies "in a manner which could not be condoned." The statements contained in the letter itself, the senator asserted, are unimportant and constitute nothing to which neither he nor anyone else might make objection.

Senator Johnson's statement is an echo of the 1920 fight made against him in California by the Hoover faction, which has begun a campaign in California for an "uninstructed" delegation. Johnson's statement serves notice that the fight is on and that a progressive delegation will be selected when the time comes.

Senator Johnson states that a political opponent in California "surreptitiously obtained letters from the files and private office of Chairman Boynton of the republican state central committee, and among these found the letter of McClatchy to Boynton with the excerpts from my letter."

The senator adds: "There are some things that must not be done even in politics and that decent men and women can not condone. One of these is burglarizing an opponent's rooms or stealing his private property or private correspondence, or receiving things thus appropriated. This is exactly what was done in this particular instance."

In his letter to McClatchy Senator Johnson discussed the opposition to him in his own state, and expressed the opinion that President Harding would win a renomination, and that the "old crew" was in the saddle in California and might make his chances difficult.

PLAYERS TO FILE SUIT

Deny They Had Been Approached by Gamblers in Cincinnati.

New York, Aug. 24.—President John Heydler of the National league exploded rumors of another major league baseball scandal growing out of charges by a Chicago sports weekly that Outfielder Pat Duncan and Infielder Sam Bohne of the Reds had been approached by gamblers in the last series between the Reds and Giants in Cincinnati. The players, under oath before a notary public, in the presence of President Heydler, denied any such occurrence. The investigation was held in President Heydler's office, to which the players were called. President Heydler stated he had advised both players to bring suit for libel for defamation of character and that they intended to file suit immediately.

In going to the law courts with a suit for slander President Heydler said the matter would be sifted to the bottom "to get at the root of this accusation and determine what motive prompted the originators of it." Bohne and Duncan were declared by him to be completely innocent of any wrongdoing.

Record Mail Plane Flight.

New York, Aug. 24.—The postal air service achieved a success yesterday that exceeded its best hopes when mail from San Francisco landed at Mineola after a flight of 27 hours and 55 minutes. This flight was five minutes shorter than the 28-hour schedule upon which the postoffice hopes to operate and 2 hours and 30 minutes better than the schedule of 30 hours and 15 minutes set for this particular flight.

FROM A SICKBED

Lewis Directing Preparations For the Strike of Anthracite Miners.

Atlantic City, N. Y., Aug. 24.—John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, is directing preparations for the strike of 158,000 men in the anthracite coal fields from a sick bed.

All hope of averting the suspension of mining in the hard coal fields of Pennsylvania, now scheduled for Sept. 1, went glimmering with the semi-official announcement of the anthracite operators that they were preparing to break camp at the Traymore hotel. Lewis and the other members of the miners' section of the joint scale subcommittee will probably remain here for several days. The miners' chieftain was ordered to bed as a result of his inability to conquer a cold which he contracted in Washington on the day of the funeral services for the late President Harding. He continued, however, in active direction of the strike preparations.

Lewis denied the report that there would be a sympathetic strike in the soft coal fields.

Found Dead in Machine.

Circleville, O., Aug. 24.—Cary Short, 53, was found dead in his automobile five miles south of Circleville. He operated a real estate office here. It is believed that he was seized with an attack of heart trouble while driving as his automobile left the road and hit a tree.

Body Exhumed.

Washington C. H., O., Aug. 24.—Five physicians, representing the state industrial commission and the board of health, exhumed the body of B. A. Carson before paying industrial insurance claims. Their findings were that Carson's death was due to enlarged heart and diseased liver. The death certificate had indicated death was due to cancer of the liver, aggravated by gasoline fumes, Carson having had charge of a filling station.

Left Composer Pondering.

The orchestra was practicing the composer's very long and tedious piece when he arrived.

"What's this?" he demanded from the doorway. "I can hear only the violins, not the wind instruments."

"It's too hard a job for the wind instruments," replied the orchestra leader. "They can't blow and yawn at the same time!"

Where Words Came From.

"Bivouac," like "plunder," is a word that arose in the Thirty Years' war, although it did not come into English until the beginning of the Eighteenth century. "Refugee" came into the language with the Huguenot refugees; "excise" is apparently a Dutch word and, although borrowed earlier, came into general use when this system of taxation was borrowed from Holland in 1643.—L. B. Smith's "The English Language."

SOURCE OF FAMILIAR SAYINGS

"Kicking the Bucket," for instance, Can Be Traced to Days of California Gold Rush.

The expression, "a pig in a poke," originated in Northampton market, when some wags put a cat in a bag or poke and sold it as a pig to a countryman. When the buyer opened the bag, out jumped the cat. This also gave rise to the expression, "letting the cat out of the bag."

"Kicking the bucket" is a phrase that owes its conception to the days of the great gold rush to California and Australia in 1849-51, says London Tit-Bits. Many unfortunate seekers after gold, losing their all in an unavailing effort to find the precious "dust," committed suicide. The suicide tied a rope to a beam in his hut. Then, standing on an upturned bucket, he would adjust the other end of the rope round his neck. When all was ready he simply kicked the bucket from under his feet.

"Worth a Jew's eye," probably came from the fact that King John extorted large sums of money from Jews under threats of mutilation. All the teeth of one Jew in Bristol were extracted to satisfy the king's rapacity.

From a corruption of the Anglo-Saxon we get the phrase, "as mad as a hatter." It has nothing to do with a "hatter," really. The word "mad" in Anglo-Saxon meant furious, angry, or even venomous, and "atter" meant an "adder or viper." Thus the whole expression really means "as venomous as an adder."

Wild Canaries Not Yellow.

Canaries on their native islands are found in great flocks—striped greenish birds, by no means resembling in color our cage canaries. The yellow canary is a result of selective breeding, and the same may be said, of course, of other cage varieties, such as the hump-backed Belgian canary and the "lizard" canary of curious feather-pattern.

SMALL TOWN HUMOR AND PHILOSOPHY

By BUCK CAMPBELL

Many going to work don't do it after they get there.

The trouble with being lazy is it requires so much time.

A homely person may be able to redeem his face by his conduct.

How are you going to heap coals of fire effectively on the head of a fellow with an asbestos topknot?

When a man slips on a banana peeling he is fortunate if he breaks nothing more than the Ten Commandments.

None of us believes in war, but did you ever hear any one commend a coward? The animal not versed in the arts of self defense and the practice of self preservation will soon become extinct.

Aniline in a Pigment.

To detect the presence of aniline in a pigment a little of the color is laid upon a piece of letter paper, and a drop of spirit poured upon it. If the pigment contains an aniline dye, the paper will be colored right through by it, while a pure pigment will not alter the shade of the paper and will under no circumstances penetrate it. —Popular Science Monthly.

Optimist Always Wins.

The optimist knows how to make the best of it when he gets the worst of it, so that no matter what happens to him he remains cheerfully in a good humor. The pessimist, on the other hand, is highly discontented.

HOOSIER

—the Kitchen Cabinet that saves miles of steps

—the Only Kitchen Convenience that Adjusts Your Work-Table to Suit Your Height

Gymnasium instructors have a little trick of asking new members of their classes to hold their hands above their heads and open and close their fingers. After a minute or two the student usually suffers an acute pain in the muscles. Yet opening and closing the fingers is a simple, natural operation. It's the unnatural position in which the arms are held which wears one out.

Unless your work-table is adjusted to the proper height to suit your individual build, you stand in an unnatural position which puts a muscle strain on arms and back for such movements as rolling dough and beating eggs.

That is why so many women wear themselves out at their kitchen work. It is also why women who own the new HOOSIER are freed from such muscle-strains. For the new HOOSIER gives you a work-table adjusted to your comfort.

An initial payment as low as $1.00 will put a HOOSIER in your home.

NIAGARA FALLS NOT HIGHEST

Wonderful Scenic Masterpiece is Eclipsed by Some of the World's Other Great Waterways.

Niagara falls are generally looked upon as the most wonderful falls in the world, and the popular impression is that they are also the highest in the world.

But as a matter of fact, the Gersoppa falls in the Western Ghats of South India are, speaking roughly, three times the height of Niagara falls, and surpass also the famous Sutherland falls in New Zealand, the great falls of Kulepur in British Guiana and the famous Victoria falls on the Zambesi river. They are on the Sharavati river in the North Kanava district of Kanbay, and occur at a point about twenty miles from the river's mouth, where it plunges into a narrow gorge on its way to the Indian ocean. The cliff over which the Gersoppa falls leap is 830 feet high. When there is only a moderate amount of water in the river it is broken into four distinct falls, and the largest, called the Rajah, has an unbroken drop of over 500 feet before it touches a rock. Straight from an overhanging ledge it leaps into the chasm in what may be called a gigantic spout, so far from the precipice behind it that the sun shines in between and the shadow of the water may be seen on the rock at some distance to the side of the fall. The pool beneath it is 132 feet deep.

Wife Didn't See This.

Employees of the library division of the city hall gave the most recently married member of the official family a rousing sendoff when he and his bride left on a motor honeymoon tour through the East. The couple promised to write from down East, out it was four or five days before friends received a post card.

After reciting a few of the events of the trip the message concluded: "We are having as good a time as may be expected under the circumstances."—Columbus Dispatch.

Once Wonderful Temple.

The Temple of Karnak is a stupendous ruin situated in the ancient city of Thebes, Egypt, on the eastern bank of the Nile. It covers an area of nine acres, and consists of temples, courts, obelisks and avenues of sphinxes. Karnak was built in part by Osirtasen I of the twelfth dynasty, and was greatly added to by its monarchs of the eighteenth dynasty. The grand hypostyle hall of the temple contains 12 massive columns 62 feet high and 12 feet in diameter, together with 122 smaller columns and two obelisks. The walls are adorned with sculptures depicting the victories of Seti I and Rameses II. These walls are said to have been originally 80 feet high and 25 feet thick at the base.

A Judge's Busy Day.

Lord Shaw of Dunfermline tells an amusing story of an experience in the old days when the Scottish bench in Edinburgh were accustomed to dine at four o'clock in the afternoon, then went on till late or early, according to the cases before it. At two o'clock one afternoon a client called on a distinguished lawyer, and was told by the serving maid that he was at dinner.

"At dinner at two o'clock in the afternoon!" exclaimed the visitor, incredulously.

"Yes," replied the maid, "but it's yesterday's dinner he's eating the now."—From the Argonaut.

Wanted the Situation.

A weary-looking fellow who had opened all the doors looking for work happened to see a huge police advertisement headed:

"Murderer Wanted." "Well," he said, scratching his head, "it's better'n nothing, anyhow. I'm going in and ask for the job."

Good Wishes.

Mr. Rockwell had just become the proud father of bouncing twin babies, when he encountered one of his wife's women friends.

"Congratulations!" she said, "I hear your wife gave birth to twins."

"Thank you!" he answered, excitedly. "The same to you and many of them!"

QUEBEC SPRUCE HELD BEST

Peculiar Quality of Wood Considered to Give It Superiority for Certain Sporting Purposes.

Oxford may use American Rhodes scholars to win the annual boat race, but Quebec spruce is used for her oars. Once British Columbia spruce was tried, but though the Dark Blues won, the experiment was never repeated, owing to three or four of the oars having to be replaced at the last moment. Formerly pitch pine was used. Willows are used for cricket bats, but ash is the sportsman's tree. Without it lawn tennis would be impossible. Anyway, although various substitutes have been tried, including steel, cane, aluminum, and hickory, nothing has been found to approach, far less to equal, the best British ash, for racket frames. Ash is also unbeatable for billiard cues, though they are spliced with heavier woods, such as mahogany; also for hockey sticks, baseball clubs, jumping poles, cricket stumps, and croquet mallet shafts. Cane is also put to a variety of uses. It is used for fishing rods, polo sticks, the splicing of all kinds of bats and handles, cricket pads, and football and hockey shin guards. Greenheart is favored for fishing rods; and wooden golf club shafts are generally made of hickory, greenheart, and occasionally lance wood, orange wood, and sometimes ash being used for "irons." Heads are generally made of beech, but pear tree and apple tree are also used. Bowling enthusiasts have their "woods" made of lignum vitae or boxwood. Cork, like cane, is used for the splicing of handles, also the interior of cricket balls. Then where would we be without the rubber tree? There would be no balls, or, at least, no suitable balls, for football, lawn tennis, netball, golf, water polo, cricket on the sands, for which a solid rubber ball is incomparably the best.

A favorable trade balance of $26,000,000 is shown by the official figures on the country's exports and imports for July issued by the department of commerce.

THRIFT and EDUCATION

We think that "Thrift" should be as much the part of the American child's education as arithmetic, geography and spelling.

Doesn't it sound rather inconsistent to teach all the fine points about MAKING MONEY without saying a word about how to TAKE CARE OF IT after it is made.

A good way to teach thrift, is for each and every parent to see that his child has a Savings Account in this solid institution.

Such a step will have a beneficial influence on the child's future character.

Rivals the "Human Fly."

Of all American animals, bighorn, the mountain sheep, is one of the most remarkable. Not only is he equally remarkable in his ability to live, and live well, in an environment where it would seem that no animal of such size could possibly sustain life. There, on the roof of the world, he not only sustains life, but winter or summer, appears to be fat and in the best of condition, the People's Home Magazine says.

OTTERBEIN HOME

Aged Men, Women and Children Cared for by United Brethren Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles McFadden and daughter, Olive, Miss Minnie Callahan, Mrs. Ralph Long, Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Klingensmith, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Kirkpatrick and son, Charles, and daughter, Mary Ellen, have returned from a motor trip thru Columbus, Springfield, Dayton and Lebanon. Among the places of interest they visited were the National Cash Register works, the United Brethren publishing home and the Otterbein Home for children and the aged. Especially were they charmed with the latter and with the genial wife of the superintendent, Mrs. King, who extended them a most cordial welcome. This is a farm of 4,005 acres of the finest land, the old Shaker settlement, which the U. B. church purchased a few years ago and has converted into this home. The buildings there are well preserved and beautiful. They are being fitted up to accommodate the many children of U. B. families who are orphaned. There are 175 there now and a large number on the waiting list; also 75 aged men and women have their homes there. It is indeed an institution of which any church may well be proud.

Caught On to Sailors' Trick.

If a man's hat blew overboard while leaving port many British skippers would turn back and delay sailing until the next day. It was an omen that one of the crew would be lost over the side during the trip. This sign, however, became discredited, as wily deckhands, desirous of another day ashore with their wives and families, contracted the habit of going aloft and assisting the wind to foretell disaster.

DRY MEXICO

President Obregon Says That Country Will Adopt Prohibition.

President Obregon, of Mexico, shares the belief of Bishop Wilbur P. Thirkield, of the Methodist Episcopal church, that within a few years the country below the Rio Grande will adopt prohibition.

In an address recently before the conference on International Relations from a Christian viewpoint, the bishop quoted a letter from President Obregon to him, which said:

"I believe frankly that your prestige as a prophet is not being compromised too much when you state that our tendency is toward prohibition and that at an early date Mexico will enter into that estate."

The bishop declared that the government as represented by President Obregon and Secretaries de la Huerta and Callos stands behind the dry movement firmly. He said that more than one northern state is now largely dry and that the state of Oaxaca, has taxed the saloons practically out of existence.

"The Minister of education placed 1000 text books on temperance in the hands of the teachers in the public schools," he said.

"In all deeds to land under the new agrarian laws are raising of the maguery plant, out of which intoxicating pulque is made, is prohibited. I confidently expect that within the next 10 years Mexico will be dry."

Bishop Thirkield declared that President Obregon's achievement in bringing peace to Mexico, establishing an honest budget and providing for the payment of the public debt places him as one of the greatest modern statesmen and rulers of the republics of the world.

Pointing to Mexico as a fertile field for American investment, he urged that the United States divert the money it now spends to maintain a single fort along the Mexican border to the establishment of friendly relations between the two nations.

Keep in mind the sale of the 50 acre tract of land belonging to the estate of Charles M. Rife, adjoining the north corporation line of Circleville, Monday, August 27, at 2 p. m. at the court house. 23augd3.

OUT OF THE MELTING POT

Heaven and Earth Both Constructed Out of the Same Elements, Says Science.

Meteors have always been looked on with interest by the sky watchers. They swoop down on us startlingly from some mysterious hinterland of outer space. We look with something of awe even today and wonder about them. Are they messengers from distant strange worlds? Do they differ in some essential way from the substance matter of the earth?

The answer is an unromantic "no," says the New York Evening Post.

Chemically, meteorites are often composed of iron with some nickel and smaller amounts of other elements. So far as the chemist can determine, the iron in meteorites is just like the iron in the kitchen range or the garden hoe, and the nickel no different from that in the 5-cent piece in your pocket. It seems to be pretty definite proof that our earth is part and parcel with the rest of the universe and that all the splendid stars are now or will some time be made up of just the kind of chemical elements we find by scratching the surface of this little earth.

There seems to be no doubt that all of the matter of the universe came out of the same vast melting pot. Our sun differs from giant Betelgeuse, at the other end of the heavens, only in size and hotness. The warmth and the water and light on our earth are probably very much like those on thousands of planets swinging in the vast spaces of the Milky Way and, given these same conditions, it is more than likely that life is there also, and intelligence and thinking, and wondering about us as we think and wonder about them.

The Gift of God.

Sleep is the gift of God. We think we lay our heads upon our pillows and compose our bodies in a peaceful posture, and that therefore we naturally and necessarily fall asleep. But it is not so. Sleep is the gift of God, and not a man would close his eyes did not God put his fingers on his eyelids; did not the Almighty send a soft and balmy influence over his frame which lulled his thoughts into quiescence, making him enter into that blissful state of rest which we call sleep.—Charles H. Spurgeon.

Ears in Their Feet.

A peculiarity of deaf cats is that they seem to have a very great sense of feeling in their foot-pads. It is almost an impossibility for a heavy animal to approach a deaf cat, from behind without giving it warning, and this may be attributed to the extreme sensitiveness of the cat's feet recording the slightest tremor of the ground.

AT THE COURT HOUSE

Judgment Affirmed.

Heffner charged with having property in his possession for the manufacturing of liquor and also of having in his possession intoxicating liquor and which cases were tried before Mayor Renick and in which he was fined $750 on the first count and by the court of common pleas to $250 on the second charge was upheld by the court of common pleas, to which court the case was taken on error. I. F. Snyder represented the plaintiff. Judge Curtin rendered the decision.

ORDINANCE NO. 458.

To change the name of that portion of North Pickaway Street between the East Ringgold Turnpike, now Northridge Road on the South, and Wilson Avenue on the North.

Whereas, the Council of the City of Circleville, Ohio, did on the 18th day of May, 1904 duly pass an ordinance the same being recorded in Ordinance Record of 1895 on pages 87 and 88, providing for the purchase of a strip of land sixty feet in width, running North and South, off the west side of land then owned by Amelia Stout, extending from the East Ringgold Turnpike, now Northridge Road, to the North Corporation line of the City of Circleville, Ohio, and.

Whereas, said strip of land was duly purchased, improved and dedicated to the public for the use of a street to be known as "North Pickaway Street."

Now, therefore, be it ordained by the Council of the City of Circleville, Ohio, Section 1. That the name of that portion of "North Pickaway Street" between the East Ringgold Turnpike, now Northridge Road on the South, and Wilson Avenue on the North in said City of Circleville, Ohio, be changed to "Atwater Avenue."

Section 2. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law. Passed by Council this 15th day of August, 1923.

FELIX R. CALDWELL,
President of Council.
Attest:—Fred R. Nicholas, Clerk.
Approved by me this 15th day of August, 1923.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Saturday at the residence and at 2:30 o'clock in the Ashville U. B. church. Burial will be in Reber Hill cemetery.

Uses for Corks.

Have you ever tried using corks in cleaning steel knives? When a strong cork, with a substantial base, is dipped in the cleaning preparation and then rubbed briskly over the blade, it will be found to work much more effectively than the more common method of using a small cloth. The saving to the hands is quite worth considering, at the same time.

BUSINESS MAN

Secretary Mellon Against Intervention in European Affairs.

The secretary of the treasury is a business man. He has just returned from an extensive trip abroad. He does not agree with congressional gentlemen and other investigators who would have us intervene in European affairs. Such intervention at this time would not be helpful, he says. On the contrary, he affirms that economic conditions abroad are improving right along and that reparations and other items will be satisfactorily solved without the assistance of the United States.

Secretary Mellon is not a politician. His judgments are based upon facts and figures. Sentiment and prejudice do not influence his conclusions. Observing a rejuvenescent France, excellent crops, but little unemployment and money plentiful, he deduces substantial hope for the future.

In England unemployment is greatly decreased, and, while bankers are somewhat apprehensive over the trade outlook, there appears to be nothing that seriously stands in the way of normal progress and adjustments.

The secretary does not believe a communistic revolution in Germany at all probable. In brief, after a careful survey of the entire foreign field, Mr. Mellon concludes that Europe should be left to work out its own destiny. He sees no reason why this may not be done successfully without this nation becoming identified in any way with foreign involvements.

These deductions will not be popular with those who would have the United States underwrite the security of the world; they will not be popular with the dreaming altruists who believe the world now trends upon the millennial period; they will not be kindly received by politicians whose exploitation of the woes of Europe constitute their sole stock to trade; but they should be reassuring to the mass of the American public which is interested in the development and progress of the national interest as a matter of first concern.

It is profitable to the nation to have men like Secretary Mellon and Secretary Davis make personal investigations abroad. Both returned home with valuable and helpful information and suggestions with reference to European affairs.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

PEOPLE OF AFGHANISTAN ARE GROWING MORE MODERN

Establish New Schools, Adopt Compulsory Education and Install Radio Station.

Citizens of Afghanistan, in their effort to become modern, have established a radio station at Kabul.

This follows the opening of the first telegraphic communication between Afghanistan and India. There is now a telephone line from Kabul to Kandahar, and it is possible to travel by automobile between these cities.

Since the abolition of slavery in January of 1921, great strides have been made in education in Afghanistan. There is a new boys' school, caring for 150 youngsters under twelve years of age, and a school for women, both at Kabul, and several primary schools have been set up in the provinces. Compulsory school attendance has been decreed, though at present scarcely one person in a thousand can read and write. For the first time in the history of the country a press has come into existence, and five periodicals already have been established.

The greatest difficulty before the new government is the finding of men competent to carry out its reforms. The old officials were strenuously opposed to these innovations, and it proved necessary, early in 1922, to depose at a single stroke all the provincial governors. The new officials no longer wear national costumes, but dress in correct European fashion. Their offices are equipped with modern desks and chairs, and government clerks have been forbidden to sit on the floor while performing their duties. Immediately following the evening prayer and the swift sunset, electric street lights are flashed on and military bands march through the city, in full uniform, playing for the popular amusement.

MANY CITIES WOULD GLADLY WELCOME MAYOR LIKE THIS

Here is Illinois' unique mayor, Edward Crabtree of Jacksonville, Ill., who refused to accept any salary for his duties. He has the distinction of being elected three times without giving away as much as a nickel cigar or making a single speech, neither has he ever contributed a dollar towards a party campaign fund. Mayor Crabtree was urged to become mayor and reorganize the administration so that it could be placed on a sound condition financially. Today the city's credit is now on a par with the best in the state. It is believed that he can retain the position of chief executive as long as he cares to do so.

PHENOMENA STARTLE CITY

Flaming Cross and Night Explosions Mystify Fitchburg.

Chief of Police Godley of Fitchburg, Mass., attributed to mischievous boys phenomena that had terrorized citizens for two nights recently. One night, after two explosions resembling big gun fire, a huge cross was burned at the summit of Rollstone Hill, a rocky peak in the center of the city. The next night the two explosions were repeated and then a great rocket was fired from the hilltop. Searches by police in both instances revealed nothing.

A heavy guard was placed at the great rock that forms the highest peak of the hill.

CHINA TO HAVE AIR ROUTES

American Flying Expert Promotes Extensive Enterprise in Shanghai.

The Setah and Great China Airways companies are two newly launched enterprises which have been promoted by James Slevin, an American airplane expert, who plans to establish a network of aerial service linking every important center in China in the course of the year.

Slevin said the first route to be opened will be from Tientsin to Urya with regular flights carrying passengers, mails and express packages.

The project, Slevin says, is being carried out under agreements with the commercial aeronautical department of the Chinese government.

AMUSEMENTS

J. E. Williamson's remarkable undersea picture, which comes direct from a three week consecutive run at the Rialto and Rivoli theaters, New York City, will be presented for the first time at the Metropolitan theater on Friday, as the feature attraction at that house.

Distributed by Film Booking offices "Wonders of the Sea" is a gathering of marvelously beautiful undersea scenes with highly dramatic episodes, such as a battle with a deadly moray and a vicious barracuda, and the capture of a shark on a hook before the eyes of the camera. Romantic sunken ships are the scenes of undersea exploration and a delightful story of an oceanographer, a stowaway boy, an artist and a beautiful girl binds it together into an unusual novelty. The late Alexander Graham Bell, the inventor of the telephone, appears in the picture, making a trip along the bottom of the sea and the new chemical diving device by which it is possible to go about unencumbered with ropes and airlines is also interestingly presented in the new Williamson production.

Beckett's Ambitious Program.

London, Aug. 24.—Joe Beckett, English heavyweight, is very ambitious and confident. "I can almost name the round," Joe is quoted as saying, "in which I'll knock out Georges Carpentier, when we meet Sept. 27 or Oct. 1." And then says Joe: "Then I am going to the Argentine and fight Luis Firpo for a $50,000 purse, and, after that, my life's ambition, a fight with Jack Dempsey."

THE DOG THAT WOULDN'T COME BACK.

He had married a fluffy young thing and as time went on grew to detest her homely little pea poodle dog that snapped and snarled whenever he came near. One day Fido mysteriously disappeared and he promptly and generously offered one hundred dollars for its recovery.

"But I thought," said a friend, "you hated that dog like poison?" "So I did," he replied; "I could not bear it."

"Then why on earth do you offer such a big reward for its return?" "I like to please my wife."

"Well, that may be, but $100 is sure to bring the dog back."

"I think not," he answered, "unless someone saw me bury it in the garden."—From Everybody's Magazine for September.

HIS GLOOM SHARED.

Mr. Millerton, who is a great deal of a hypochondriac and enjoys looking forward "to the end" was in an especially depressed mood one evening when he gave some thought to the question of a second marriage for his wife.

"Harriet, my dear," he said gloomily, "when I am gone from this vale of tears, you must marry again. It is my dearest wish."

"William," observed his wife, with a faint smile, "no one will marry an old woman like me. You ought to have died fifteen years ago for that."—From Everybody's Magazine for September.

TO GRAND JURY

Thurlow W. Timmons and Thurman A. Betts Released on Bond.

In the preliminary hearing of Thurman A. Betts, charged with assault with intent to commit rape and T. W. Timmons charged with rape, the prisoners pleaded not guilty Thursday evening in a preliminary hearing before Justice E. C. Friece.

Justice Friece held both men to the grand jury. Betts in the sum of $1000 and Timmons in the sum of $2000. They furnished bond and were released.

The story of the assault, as told by Miss Faler, brought out the fact that the young men had whisky with them on the night of the eventful trip. The hearing produced several dramatic incidents and some very sensational testimony.

Betts was represented by Irvin F. Snyder and Timmons was represented by Barton Walters. The state was represented by Prosecuting Attorney Meeker Terwilliger.

Firpo's Quarters.

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 24.—Horatio Lavelle, millionaire manager for Luis Firpo, heavyweight, who hopes to acquire Jack Dempsey's crown Sept. 14, completed arrangements for the headquarters of his protegee. A large cottage in the heart of fashionable Chelsea was rented, and will be occupied by the fighter's party in a few days. Lavelle said that Firpo now weighs 215 pounds and will fight at 210 or 212.

Frank Comment.

It takes a small boy to take the conceit out of one. Being a little stout and not often well pleased with myself, on one occasion when wearing a new gown I asked my small son if I did not look rather well. He eyed me for a moment, then took the starch out of me by asking, "Are you not just a little wide across the skirt?"

KEEP THE INDIAN AS HE IS.

To all civilized people the Indians have a charm about them a touch of early life on earth, that ought to be preserved. There is no doubt that the redskin of the eastern states is destroyed forever. He is only living in Fenimore Cooper's charming novels. But the Indian of the great southwest has a chance of keeping up a little of the life and the civilization that is natural to him and, in all its simplicity, is fascinating to modern people. That life preserved will be of more worth to mankind than any little bit of modern civilization transplanted into a soil where there is really no growth for it. Staying with a government inspector, I had an opportunity to discuss the problem with an authority on the question. His view affirmed my opinion that it is better to leave the Indians alone and not try to make them Americans. Their hearts and souls are far away from the feelings of white men. You will lose a few Americans, but an interesting part of mankind will be preserved.—From "The Typical American" by Sven V. Knudsen, in the September Scribner's.

Harness Sun's Rays.

An experimenter in the Royal College of Science in Toronto claims that he has found a way to harness the sun's heat to industrial tasks of almost any nature. For instance, by his experiments with mirror combinations he has focused reflected rays so as to melt a bar of lead at a temperature below freezing to a depth of one and a half inches in 42 seconds.

HARTMAN THEATER

Monday—Al G. Field minstrels—
State fair week.

The day is a happy one for all Ohio in that it ushers in the new Field production and Ohio's great state fair two events which have come to be synchronous and synonymous in the minds of all state fair visitors. The Field show again inaugurates the new theatrical season at the Hartman, a custom it has enjoyed for many years and always the week of the big fair.

Those who expect to visit the Field entertainment during their stay in Columbus are urged to make reservations at the earliest possible opportunity, as delay may mean disappointment in obtaining seats.

Edward Conard and Joseph E. Hatfield, joint owners and producers of the Al G. Field minstrels, have achieved the greatest success of the 37 splendid years that are to the credit of the organization this year. It is heralded as the very finest and most lavish, as well as ambitious show black face minstrelsy has yet attained. Previous critics are unanimous in acclaiming its unusual merit and Hartman patrons will know what to expect in view of the splendid performances given by this popular
American organization in the past.

The company again includes all the old familiar and much loved faces and some new ones as well and the production is a brilliant one in every sense of the word. Manager Conard has outdone all former efforts in staging the show and it is without a doubt the most expensive minstrelsy ever known.

The company includes Jack Richards, Billy Church, Nick Hufford,
Rody Jordan, John Heely, Ed. Jones,
Pete Detzel, Boni Mack, Harry Frillman, Ola Ellwood, Leslie Berry, Dolf
Kastor, the Doran Brothers, Lloyd
Gilbert, Carl Cameron's saxoland five and all the other familiar and popular names of the old program.

LITTLE THINGS

Trifles at Unexpected Moment Count for a Great Deal.

Boys sometimes worry when their teachers or employers make so much ado about things that seem to the boys to be mere trifles; but little things are frequently not trifles, and sometimes at the unexpected moment they really count for a great deal.

There is a young man named Carpenter who is a clerk in a drug store in a certain small town. His appearance is unusually prepossessing, for he is tall, erect, has a good figure and an expression of candor that invites confidence. He also bears an excellent character and is just the sort of fellow that a stranger would naturally "take to."

Indeed, one day a stranger did take to him—a certain Mr. Sawyer, who owns a large drug store in a considerable city and who at the time was "scouting" for a new clerk. As soon as he entered the store and saw young Carpenter he was greatly pleased with him and thought: "Maybe this is the man I want." So he made a little purchase by way of beginning an acquaintance—a small box of candy, which, having a well defined shape, was as easy to wrap as anything could possibly be. But by the time Carpenter handed the package to the customer Mr. Sawyer had dismissed him as a possibility, and Carpenter never knew that in those few moments he had stood an important examination and had failed.

Mr. Sawyer described the incident to a friend with whom he took dinner that evening. "What I bought," he said, "was one of the easiest parcels to wrap—an oblong box. If I had been buying flaxseed, for example, that would have been much more difficult to wrap neat and tight. But he used about 50 per cent more paper than he needed, which may seem a trifle but in a large business would be a bad leak; and in the next place he didn't wrap the parcel in the right way, which again is a small thing but something and up-and-coming clerk should know. If I had taken the string from that that parcel and tossed the parcel of the floor the box would have flown out of the paper, whereas, if he had wrapped it properly it wouldn't."

According to the wise man, it was the little foxes that spoiled the vines, and in this case the two little foxes of wastefulness and the slovenly performance of a common act spoiled the vine of Carpenter's prospects.—Youth's Companion.

POWERS TO BE NOTIFIED

Draft of Manifesto Recognizing Mexico Has Been Completed.

Washington, Aug. 24.—The draft of the manifesto by which the Obregon government of Mexico will be recognized has been completed at the state department. It will be promulgated and become effective either on Saturday or Monday. The only remaining causes for delay are due to the necessity of officially notifying Great Britain, France, Belgium, Cuba and several other countries of the proposed action. The governments mentioned agreed more than a year ago to act in unison with the United States and have done so throughout the negotiations now successfully concluded.

Big County Fair Planned.

Cleveland, Aug. 24.—A gigantic county fair will be held in Public hall, this city, Oct. 6 to 16. It is to be known as the Cleveland National exhibition and will have a display of agricultural products and implements, live stock, fruits and flowers from every part of America. James F. Fleming, former manager of the Ohio State fair, is in charge of the exhibition.

Turks Ratify Treaty.

Constantinople, Aug. 24.—The Angora assembly ratified the treaty negotiated at Lausanne between the Turks and the allies.

Cafe Held Up.

Cincinnati, Aug. 24.—A bandit held up a local cafe and seven patrons, the loot consisting of $75 from a cash register and $34 from the patrons.

His Name Among Chums.

William is the name of a small newcomer in our block. A short time after Everett met him he was calling him Bill. On his mother asking him why he didn't call the child by his right name, Everett replied: "Oh, 'cause William is his man's name, but Bill is his boy's name."—Exchange.

IMPORT WASPS TO KILL PESTS

Natural Enemies of Corn Borer Released Near Boston.

SAVE MILLIONS TO FARMERS

Boston.—With the release of 1,000,000 tiny wasps, termed habrobracons, in this vicinity, experts of the bureau of entomology, United States Department of Agriculture, hope they have set in motion an agency that will result in the destruction of the corn borer and the saving of millions of dollars to the farmers. The success of the experiment, entomologists say, will not be determined until observations have extended over a period of years.

Imported from France, in which country and in Italy the habrobracon has proved a relentless enemy of the corn borer, four colonies of the insects were bred at the government laboratories in Arlington. Whether the wasp can survive and flourish in the colder and more uneven climate of New England and the United States in general is a question still to be determined.

$1,000,000 Damage Last Year.

The corn borer itself is an imported species, having come to America in shipments of European broom corn. Its ravages first attracted serious attention in 1917 in eastern Massachusetts. Since that time it has worked steadily westward. Last year the borer caused damage estimated at $1,000,000 in this state alone.

The corn borer, which in appearance resembles a caterpillar, not only attacks corn but inflicts injury upon crops of beets, celery, beans, rhubarb, potatoes, peppers, buckwheat and clover. Altogether investigators have found the borer guilty of damaging 211 varieties of plants.

Harmless to Crops.

The habrobracon is said to injure no crop, confining its attacks to the borer, the gypsy and the brown-tail moths. The wasps are very small, with bodies about the size of the head of a pin. The female wasp attaches itself to the corn borer and lays its eggs on it. These, when they develop, at first paralyze and later kill the borer.

The battle between borer and habrobracon began with the release of colonies of 250,000 habrobracons each in Saugus, Cambridge, Malden and Arlington. Further experiments are being made by government entomologists with a view to finding other insects which may check the spread of the borer.

COMMONS RAPS BATHTUBS

Refuses to Pass Bill Making Placing of Them in New Houses Compulsory.

The wise legislators in the British house of commons recently discussed the need of bathtubs in new dwellings. Capt. Wedgwood Benn (Liberal, Leith) urged an amendment to the housing bill—and when a building is converted into a dwelling or flats, it shall contain bathtubs.

"Our grandfathers were washed only twice in their lives; when they were born and when they died," remarked Col. Pretyman Newman (conservative, Finchley).

"A bath is a luxury," said Major Molloy (conservative, Blackpool), whose bravery won him the distinguished service order. "People wash themselves merely to become pleasant neighbors."

Colonel Benn's amendment was lost, 25 to 19.

ANGLER DROWNED BY FISH

Man Falls Overboard at "Bite" and Is Entangled in Line.

"Drowned by a fish," has been written by Detroit authorities opposite the name of Lawrence Wimberly, thirty-seven, who met death in St. Clair river.

Wimberly, accompanied by George B. Horrel, rowed to the middle of the stream, dropped a fishing line overboard and went to sleep. A fish swallowed the bait and began tugging at the line, which Wimberly had tied to his arm. Awakening, Wimberly upset the boat and was thrown into the water. The line became wrapped about his arms so that he could not swim and he drowned while his companion was swimming to shore.

The fish had escaped when Wimberly's body was recovered.

Sues for Omitted Name.

Because his name was omitted from the 1923 telephone directory of Philadelphia, Dr. E. H. Siter has filed suit to compel a reprinting of the book. Omission of his name hurt his business, the doctor declared. It would cost something like $1,000,000 to reprint the books.

Surplus of Victory Medals.

Victory medals apparently have no claimants among America's soldier boys, for the War department finds it has a surplus of 2,119,000. Congress authorized that the medals be issued to every American soldier of the World war. It has taken five years to distribute 1,223,000 of the decorations.

Half Million Bugs Motor to Oregon.

With 800,000 lady bugs in the back seat of his motor-car, County Farm Agent Cate rode into Medford, Ore. The lady bugs will clear orchards of scale and aphids, he declared, saving about $5,000 worth of crops for farmers.
